

At Dragon Army, our team is the most important part of our company. And our values are what help us make sure we bring in the right new team members. They are: Team First, Think Positively, and Have Fun. So right off the bat, we need to know if you think these are good values for YOU. If this sounds like your kind of thing, keep reading.

We're a mobile experience company. We strive to build remarkable mobile products and experiences for Fortune 1000 companies. And we're looking for an incredible Front End Lead to join our growing team.

Responsibilities

Our Front End lead will provide a strong technical leadership in front end design, architecture, and implementation. You will also:

- Mentor junior front-end team members
- Architect and build projects in modern javascript frameworks
- Estimate for projects and creation of task/stories.
- Work closely with backend developers to solve problem and create great web applications

Required Skills and Experience

- 5+ years experience in front end development
- Deep understanding of different software development methodologies
- Experience in using modern javascript frameworks such as React and Angular
- Solid understanding of core Javascript concepts (ie: Scope, closures, objects, asynchronous callbacks, etc.)
- Proven experience in responsive and adaptive web sites

Sound like something you'd be into? Drop us a line at jobs@dragonarmy.com and we'll get back to you.